Part 2: Learning and Teaching
Learning Outcomes	 On successful completion of this module students will: 1. have successfully completed at least 150 hours of teaching activity in higher education; students following the NMC pathway are required to complete a minimum of 12 weeks (360 hours) teaching practice of which 165 hours will be actual student contact teaching. The other 195 hours will be their involvement in curriculum planning/design, marking, tutorials, other teaching and learning activities and assessment, (B) 2. be able to evaluate their own and others' teaching in terms of their own and prespecified criteria and published work. They will be able to discuss and have critical awareness of fundamental aspects of good practice and suggest ways in which practice can be improved (B) 3. have demonstrated to their tutor a professional level of competence in preparation and planning in support of learners, in using a range of classroom management methods, in use of appropriate learning spaces, in knowledge, use and management of reference materials and resources, in assessment of students, and in monitoring the effectiveness of teaching (A) have demonstrated they work within a professional value base, conform to relevant agreed codes of professional practice and adapt appropriately to changes in their professional environment (A & B) have demonstrated in an assignment a professional level of knowledge and methodological awareness in teaching and learning methods (B) have shown a range of appropriate personal attributes such as enthusiasm, commitment, creativity, openness to ideas and empathy with learners (A & B) be able to communicate effectively, including the capacity to communicate the processes and outcomes of their learning (A & B) able to work effectively as an independent an self-motivated learner A & B).

Syllabus Outline	 methods of practical teaching in the professional context extended self and peer evaluation personal teaching log
Contact Hours	1 hour briefing session 3 x 1 hour observations of teaching plus time for feedback following the observations
Teaching and Learning Methods	In this module, participants maintain a comprehensive log of teaching and related activities. They receive feedback on six practical teaching sessions, after observations by a University tutor and a course colleague, each of whom will make three observations. (In agreement with the module tutor, the peer observations may be substituted by observation visits from a suitably qualified and experienced person). For the purposes of this module, 'teaching' can be taken to include a wide range of activities within which the participant's intention is to foster the learning of others. The range would include: lecturing to large and small groups; conducting seminars and tutorials with groups and individuals; group and team-based work of various kinds; one-to-one support; inducting learners into an organisation; electronic communication to foster learning, whether in 'real time' or in a 'virtual' environment; telephone tutorials. Participants should ensure that as far as possible their logged and observed activities reflect a range of such situations, and observers will negotiate with participants as to the kinds of teaching activity they visit, so as to achieve a balance.
	Video-recording of practical teaching: Tutor observation: Unless issues of practicality, ethics, or confidentiality forbid it, the basis of one of the three tutor observations will normally be a video-recording of a single, minimum of one hour, maximum of two hours, session of the participant's own teaching. It is expected that shared viewing of the recording will contribute uniquely to participants' awareness of strengths and weaknesses in their teaching. The participant will choose whether this should be the first, second, or third observation. Video recording equipment is available provided it is booked well in advance.
	For many participants, it is likely that this aspect of the module is most easily achieved by recording a conventional teaching session with a group of students. If so, the recording may be made by a colleague and freely follow movement and action during the session. However, this will not always be possible and a standing camera and tripod may be placed by the participant in appropriate positions in the teaching environment and moved from time to time, for example, recording teaching in the introductory and closing stages and associated student activity in the middle of the session. The recording should, however made, show principal phases, certainly including any teacher exposition and some related student action or response.
	Participant and university tutor will normally view the video recording together at the University, using video playback facilities. It is recognised that observing a recording is significantly different from a live observation. Although participants are expected to bring a plan of the session as usual, the tutor will still need to spend some time clarifying the context of the session, which may not be totally apparent in a recording. Video-observation also offers opportunities for detailed analysis of processes that are unavailable in the conventional live observation, and tutors will wish to stop and discuss the recording as it is played back. It will therefore normally be impossible to view an entire recording. Participants are therefore asked to come to video observations prepared to share a maximum of 30 minutes viewing and having decided which episodes they wish to show. They should also be prepared to 'rewind' or 'fast forward' at the tutor's request. Recordings need not be of the highest technical quality, though this is obviously desirable, but events should be clearly visible and audible.

	Video-recording of practical teaching: Course-colleague observation: A similar procedure may be followed, should the participant so choose, using a video recording as the basis for one of the course colleague observations for this module.
	General procedures and paperwork: At the beginning of the visited session (or video-observation) the participant will give a copy of their 'Teaching Activity Plan' to the observer. Plans should normally follow the standard form issued at programme Induction. This will help the observer give appropriate feedback. Each visit must result in a consultation with the observer. The consultation must include an oral self evaluation by the participant and a discussion of written feedback from the observer, given in relation to the five categories below and in relation to any other criteria requested by the participant. The participant will then complete a 'teaching activity self appraisal' form, which will also go into the assignment together with the plan and written feedback. The discussion between the participant and the University tutor will include a consideration of assignment requirements, including relevant readings. All observers provide written feedback, which becomes the property of the participant and is used by them in completing assignment tasks.
	All the forms for this module are accessible electronically from Blackboard.
	Arranging tutor observations We strongly recommend that you begin planning these observations at the earliest opportunity. We also strongly recommend that you space these observations out evenly over the period of this module and do not leave them until the last minute so they become bunched together. The reasons for this are: that your tutor will have other obligations which may make arrangements logistically complicated; that there are key times when observations may be less productive such as near the end of a term or a semester; and that you will benefit most from spreading out these observations by leaving time for reflection between them.
	We would like at least one observation to involve Technology Enhanced Learning if this is logistically and practically possible. We expect the assignment for this module to address explicitly your use of and professional development needs for Technology Enhanced Learning.
	Conditions: It is a condition of participation in this module that participants agree to visit a colleague to observe teaching, and that they are available for observation of their own teaching. The peer observation is a necessary part of the experience of this module, but it should be understood that a fellow participant's evaluation of teaching competence does not contribute to the final assessment. The assignment will include records of the above activities, as well as of unobserved teaching and an evaluation of the colleague and an extended self-evaluation. Full details of what must be included are given below.
Key Information	N/A as module on a postgraduate course
Sets Information Reading Strategy	There is no essential reading for this module; but students are expected to make use of the specified readings from the previous module (UTLG95-20-M). Students will be encouraged to read widely using the library catalogue, a variety of bibliographic and full text databases, and Internet resources. Guidance to some key authors and journal titles available through the Library will be given in the handbook or made available on the University virtual learning environment. It is expected that assignment bibliographies and reference lists will reflect the range of reading carried out particularly that relating to the student's subject teaching. It is important that students can identify and retrieve appropriate reading.

	Part 3: Assessment
Assessment Strategy	The first part of the assessment strategy is based on tutor observations which comprise Component A which is under controlled conditions. The second part is based on participants' evaluation of their strengths and weaknesses drawing on the feedback from tutor and peers. This second part also contains a log of teaching hours which meets the requirements of the accrediting bodies.
	A L3: Conceptual Domain (Core) The assignment demonstrates that the participant can use and organise coherently relevant ideas, perspectives or theories to interpret and/or explore issues under study and in addition can critically analyse and/or evaluate those ideas, perspectives or theories.
	In meeting this assessment criterion you will be addressing the following dimensions of the UKPSF:
	Core Knowledge K1 The subject material K2 Appropriate methods for teaching and learning in the subject area and at the level of the academic programme

 K3 How students learn, both generally and within their subject/disciplinary area(s) K4 The use and value of appropriate learning technologies K5 Methods for evaluating the effectiveness of teaching B 1.3: Literature Domain The assignment demonstrates that the participant can reference appropriate interature and utilise it in the development of analysis and discussion of ideas. In meeting this assessment criterion you will be addressing the following dimensions of the UKPSF: Areas of Activity AS Engage in continuing professional development in subjects/disciplines and their pedagogy, incorporating scholarship, research and the evaluation of professional practices G L3: Action Domain The assignment demonstrates that the participant can explore the relationship between theory and practice in the workplace, and use reflection to develop perconal theory and refine professional development needs and/or outcomes. NMC Teachers' Standards By completing the taught module and the assignment you will be addressing the following elements of the NMC Standards:
1. Establishing effective working relationships
1.1 Demonstrate effective relationships with other members of the teaching teams, in practice and academic settings, based on mutual trust and respect.
1.2 Maintain appropriate supportive relationships with a range of students, mentors, practice teachers and other professionals.
 Foster peer support and learning in practice and academic settings for all students.
1.4 Support students to integrate into new environments and working teams to enhance access to learning.
2. Facilitation of learning
2.1. Promote development of enquiring, reflective, critical and innovative approaches to learning.
Implement a range of learning and teaching strategies across a wide range of settings.
2.3. Provide support and advice, with ongoing and constructive feedback to students, to maximise individual potential.
2.6 Act as a practice expert to support development of knowledge and skills for practice.
 Assessment and accountability 3.2 Develop, with others, effective assessment strategies to ensure that standards of proficiency for registration, or recordable qualifications at a level beyond initial registration, are met.
3.3. Support others involved in the assessment process - students, mentors and peers.
3.4 Provide constructive feedback to students and assist them in identifying future learning needs and actions, managing failing students so that they may either enhance their performance and capabilities for safe and effective practice, or be able to understand their failure and the implications of this for their future.
3.5 Be accountable for their decisions related to fitness for practice for registration or recordable qualifications – underpinning such decisions with an evidence-base derived from appropriate and effective monitoring of performance.7
4. Evaluation of learning
4.1. Determine and use criteria for evaluating the effectiveness of learning environments – acting on findings, with others, to enhance quality.
4.2. Foster and participate in self and peer evaluation to enable students to manage their own learning in practice and academic settings and to enhance personal professional development. 4.3. Evaluate the effectiveness of assessment strategies in providing evidence to make judgements on fitness for practice.
4.4. Report on the quality of practice and academic learning environments to demonstrate that NMC requirements have been met, particularly in relation to support of students and achievement of standards of proficiency.
5. Creating an environment for learning
5.1. Develop, in partnership with others, opportunities for students to identify and access learning experiences that meet their individual needs.
5.2. Ensure such opportunities maintain the integrity of the student's professional role whilst responding to the interprofessional context of practice.

5.3. Determine, with others, audit criteria against which learning environments may be judged for their effectiveness in meeting NMC requirements.
5.4. Support and develop others involved to ensure that learning needs are effectively met in a safe environment.
5.5. Explore and implement strategies for continuous quality improvement of the learning environment.
6. Context of practice
6.4 Act as a role model to enable students to learn professional responsibilities and how to be accountable for their own practice.
6.5 Adapt to change, demonstrating to students how flexibility may be incorporated whilst maintaining safe and effective practice.
7. Evidence-based practice
7.3 Empower individuals, groups and organisations to develop the evidence-base for practice.
7.4 Disseminate findings from research and practice development to enhance the quality of learning, care delivery and academic environments.
8. Leadership
8.1. Demonstrate effective communication skills to facilitate delivery of educational programmes that lead to registration or a recordable qualification.
8.3 Develop effective relationships with practice and academic staff, who are involved in programme delivery, to ensure clarity of contribution and strategies to respond to evaluation of learning experiences
