Part 2: Description
Overview: The term 'strategy' is frequently used to describe organisational practices but this term is rarely defined and is often used in different, inconsistent ways. The purpose of this module is to assist you to understand and reflect on strategic behaviour in organisations and appreciate different strategic perspectives and contexts. The module will start by introducing key macro and micro-economic concepts followed by the main building blocks associated with competitive strategy, in particular the analysis of the competitive environment, the development of competitive strategies and sustainable competitive advantage, the identification of distinctive competences and the change and renewal of capabilities over time through knowledge acquisition and innovation. We then look at corporate strategy and the formulation and implementation of strategy in different organisational contexts. Educational Aims: Strategic issues are multi-faceted, complex, subtle and often paradoxical. There is rarely one right answer. Drawing on a strong base of theoretical and empirical material, the module is intended to develop your powers of critical thinking as a step towards developing new and imaginative ways to approach problem-solving situations and finding responses that are meaningful and productive. The module aims to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Familiarise participants with the terminology of strategy Assist participants to understand and appreciate both the macro and micro environments of business organisations and their impact on the management's strategic decision making Develop participants' understanding of strategy analysis and practice
