Part 3: Teaching and learning methods

Teaching and learning methods: Learning in the module is achieved through a combination of class based activity and independent study. The classroom sessions are designed to actively support the development of independent learning strategies by the students. The sessions combine formal lecturing with a wide range of participative activities including case studies, problem solving activities and group discussion. The sessions also require a significant amount of preparation by the students in advance and consequently they are issued with a Module Handout detailing the overall aims of the module together with expected reading and questions to be addressed.

Students are encouraged to relate the knowledge and skills gained through the course to the working environment in a creative way and to find competent solutions to current issues in social marketing management contexts. The independent study includes both preparatory reading for class sessions as well as reading that expands and deepens knowledge obtained through the class sessions.

Workshop activities provide a mechanism for giving formative feedback and also for the development of transferable skills. Extensive use is made of live social marketing case studies.

Resources such as the University Library as well as the study skills web pages will aid learning.

Module Learning outcomes: On successful completion of this module students will achieve the following learning outcomes.
