These will be supplemented by two hour fortnightly workshops throughout both semesters. Additional one hour drop in sessions will be offered every week to support students in their studies.
Teaching and Learning Methods	Lectures will cover all the primary and secondary legislation, principles and case-law relating to the above topics. Workshops in the first term will be focused on exam preparation and in the second term will be directed towards research techniques, project writing skills and research based learning (with questions in each workshop based on specific elements of the research project). All materials relevant to the course, including relevant European law website links, will be published online on Blackboard. The social networking sites such as Facebook will be used. The approach to teaching and learning will be student centred and use a variety of techniques to encourage independent thought, analysis and constructive criticism. Dialogue is promoted between student and lecturers, and between students in an inter-active relationship which emphasises the flow of information between students and lecturers. Staff will be available during the semester within their office hours for face to face meetings with students. Queries can be directed to staff though email or Facebook. Students will be expected to conduct research with both traditional and electronic sources and will be instructed how to do this, where necessary, within the module. Directed reading and internet sources will be suggested. With respect to the general administration of the module, the major (but not exclusive) method of communication between the teaching team and the students will be online (Blackboard and Facebook). Full use will be made of the module Blackboard and Facebook to support this module eg to post announcements, work, feedback and access to relevant reading materials e.g. journals, articles and ebooks Students will also be directed towards the university library online study skills resources for the development of skills appropriate to the level and nature of the module http://www.uwe.ac.uk/library/resources/hub/  http://www.uwe.ac.uk/library/resources/law/blis/ Students are expected to make full use of their independent learning time, reflect critically upon the subject and develop their own ideas.
Reading Strategy	A list of recommended titles will be provided in the teaching programme and schedule and updated annually. Students will be encouraged to buy, at a competitive rate agreed with a publisher, a package of books comprising one EU Law legislation book and one standard textbook. Students will be encouraged to read widely using the library catalogue, in particular journal articles, and internet resources, which will be made available online. The university library webpages provide access to subject relevant resources and services. Many of these services can be accessed remotely. Students will be presented with opportunities within the curriculum to develop their information retrieval skills and evaluation skills in order to identify such resources

	effectively As it is important that students can identify and retrieve appropriate reading, essential reading lists of EU Law textbook chapters, journal articles and European legislation will be provided on each workshop instructions and questions sheet. However, this will be the minimum expected and students will be encouraged to conduct their own research and reading for each workshop. The module leader(s) will ensure that students gain access to all materials through the recommendation of primary texts, additional reading lists of seminal articles, additional teaching/learning materials (either available on the internet or posted on Blackboard). All such information will be provided in the 'The Law of the European Union Module Handbook', distributed to all students at the beginning of the academic year. This will provide details of a reading list, guidance on further reading and suggested links to relevant journals and websites. Students will be encouraged to engage with online resources available through the university library: http://iskillzone.uwe.ac.uk/RenderPages/RenderHomePage.aspx

Assessment Strategy	Component A is a one hour examination in which students will have to tackle one pre-seen question testing their knowledge and powers of critical analysis in relation to topics covered in the first term. Component A will carry a mark of 50% of the total marks available for the module. Component B is a coursework essay with two parts to the assignment. The first part will examine material covered in the second term.
