| Contact Hours/Scheduled Hours | Students will receive 3 hours of scheduled contact per week, one 2 hour lectorial and a 1 hour workshop. | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | |
| Teaching and Learning Methods | The aim of the module is to provide students with the research training sufficient to produce a quality quantitative Finance Dissertation. It provides students with an introduction to a range of techniques. Students will be introduced first to the broader research methods required to complete a Master dissertation. The module then focuses on the quantitative techniques required to underpin the Finance Dissertation, though also briefly reviews some basic qualitative research techniques. The teaching style gives emphasis to the application of quantitative techniques from a 'user perspective'. Students will be actively encouraged to make themselves familiar with the study skills web pages, and in particular to read widely around the subject matter. Active use will be made of the Blackboard facilities. Scheduled learning includes lectures, practical classes and workshops Independent learning includes hours engaged with essential reading, case study preparation, assignment preparation and completion | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | |

| Reading Strategy | Students will be encouraged to make full use of the print and electronic resources available to them through membership of the University. These include a range of electronic journals and a wide variety of resources available through web sites and information gateways. The University Library's web pages provide access to subject relevant resources and services, and to the library catalogue. Many resources can be accessed remotely. Students will be presented with opportunities within the curriculum to develop their information retrieval and evaluation skills in order to identify such resources effectively. There is no core text as such, as the module draws upon a range of research methods fields. However, if students wish to purchase a generic text on research methods, <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Saunders, M. Lewis, P. and Thornhill, A. (2012) Research Methods for Business Students 6th edition, Pearson: Harlow is recommended . For an excellent reference on quantitative techniques Hill, R.C. Griffiths, W.E. and Lim, G.C. (2012) Principles of Econometrics 4th edition, John Wiley is recommended. Students will be provided with access to and guidance on the use of various data sources and encouraged to make full use of them. Students will be expected to utilise a range of reading and other materials to undertake further independent research to extend their familiarity and appreciation of the subject and to help them prepare for the in-course assessment. To this end, extensive use will be made of Blackboard, additionally, students will also be encouraged to utilise the Library study skills website. | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | | |
| Indicative Reading List | The following list is offered to provide validation panels/accrediting bodies with an indication of the type and level of information students may be expected to consult. As such, its currency may wane during the life span of the module specification. However, as indicated above, CURRENT advice on readings will be available via other more frequently updated mechanisms. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Brooks, C. Part 3: Assessment

|---------------------|--|
| Assessment Strategy | The student is assessed in a formative manner in the tutorial setting where they will tackle various issues in the field of applied quantitative finance research methods and engage in some basic empirical research tasks. In terms of summative assessment, there are two tasks required. The first task requires students to use financial data and carry out relevant |

The second task requires students to produce a research proposal for a topic of their choice and on an area of finance which may be the topic they will pursue for their Finance Dissertation (1,500 words). |
