Part 2: Description
Educational Aims: See Learning Outcomes. Outline Syllabus: Decisions about data: Quantitative or qualitative data? Appreciate the importance of being able to interpret data to assess its reliability and significance. Sampling; types of samples (related, unrelated), sampling techniques (random, probability, opportunistic, snowball) Dealing with Data: Working with SPSS to input data, perform a range of statistical tests and interpret data Making the Data Count Interpreting and using data to inform evidence-based practice Using data to support hypothesis and theories. Teaching and Learning Methods: This module will be taught across semester 2 on one day per week. This module will be based on a total amount of 150 hours study time of which 50 hours will represent scheduled learning.

Scheduled learning will comprise Lectures, Seminars, Practical workshops and demonstrations, External visits, Tutorial and Interactive Learning.

Scheduled learning may also take a synchronous virtual form rather than face-to-face, through the use of email discussion groups, virtual learning environments (VLEs) and other technology-aided means.

Independent learning includes hours engaged with essential reading, assignment preparation and completion. Student study time will be organised each week with a series of both essential and further readings and preparation for portfolio activity.

Part 3: Assessment

A range of assessment techniques will be employed to ensure that learners can meet the breadth of learning outcomes presented in this module alongside the ability to demonstrate transferable skills e.g. communication skills.

Component A - Pre-seen Case Study Examination: A research paper in the field of public or uniformed services will be used to create an examination testing the ability to critically analyse the methodologies used and the significance of the results.

Component B - Portfolio SPSS Activity: A series of mathematical and data analysis techniques relevant to public and/or uniformed services including statistical analysis. The approach to this assessment takes the form of weekly exercises undertaken by the student to build a portfolio of evidence. Weekly submission is encouraged by allocation of marks as part of the assessment scheme.

Opportunities for formative assessment exist for the assessment strategy used. Verbal feedback is given and all students will engage with personalised tutorials setting SMART targets as part of the programme design.
