Teaching and learning methods	This module is delivered using large group learning sessions and opportunities for small group work. Additionally essential and recommended reading exercises will be introduced to guide the students through the core syllabus. Scheduled learning May include lectures, seminars, tutorials, demonstration, practical classes and workshops; external visits. Independent learning May include hours engaged with essential reading, examination preparation etc. These sessions constitute an average time per level as indicated in the table below. Scheduled sessions may vary slightly depending on the module choices you make. Virtual learning environment (VLE) This module is supported by a VLE where students will be able to find all necessary module information. Direct links to information sources will also be provided from within the VLE.
Key information sets information	Key information sets (KIS) are produced at programme level for all programmes that this module contributes to, which is a requirement set by HESA/HEFCE. KIS are comparable sets of standardised information about undergraduate courses allowing prospective students to compare and contrast between programmes they are interested in applying for. Key information set – module data <table border="0"> <tr> <td>Number of credits for this module</td> <td style="text-align: right; border: 1px solid black; padding: 2px;">15</td> </tr> </table>	Number of credits for this module	15

Reading strategy	Essential reading Any essential reading will be indicated clearly, along with the method for accessing it, e.g. students may be expected to purchase a set text, be given a study pack or be referred to texts that are available electronically, or in the Library. Module guides will also reflect the range of reading to be carried out. Further reading Further reading is advisable for this module, and students will be encouraged to explore at least one of the titles held in the library on this topic. A current list of such titles will be given in the module handbook and revised annually. Access and skills Formal opportunities for students to develop their library and information skills are provided within the induction period and student skills sessions. Additional support is available through online resources. This includes interactive tutorials on finding books and journals, evaluation information and referencing. Sign up workshops are also offered.

Indicative reading list	The following list is offered to provide validation panels/accrediting bodies with an indication of the type and level of information students may be expected to consult. As such, its currency may wane during the life span of the module specification. However, as indicated above, CURRENT advice on readings will be available via other more frequently updated mechanisms, including the module guide. Aspinall, V., ed. Part 3: Assessment
Assessment strategy	The module will be assessed using a written examination to demonstrate the students' knowledge and understanding of carrying out surgical nursing to practice standards and in accordance with health and safety procedures. Students will already have gained practical competence in surgical and anaesthesia practice and this theory module and examination will allow an exploration of a theoretical nature at a higher level. Formative feedback will be provided to students' and their progress will be monitored throughout the module delivery including assessment of interaction in group work and presentations and formal feedback on the examination. In line with the College's commitment to facilitating equal opportunities, a student may apply for alternative means of assessment if appropriate. Each application will be considered on an individual basis taking into account learning and assessment needs. For further information regarding this please refer to the VLE.
