Teaching and Learning Methods Key Information Sets Information	 This module is delivered using large group learning sessions and opportunities for small group work. Additionally essential and recommended reading and exercises will be introduced to guide the students through the core syllabus. Scheduled learning may include lectures, seminars, tutorials, project supervision, demonstration, practical classes and workshops; fieldwork; external visits. Independent learning includes hours engaged with essential reading, case study preparation, assignment preparation and completion etc. These sessions constitute an average time per level as indicated in the table below. Virtual learning environment (VLE): this specification is supported by a VLE where students will be able to find all necessary module information. Direct links to information sources will also be provided from within the VLE. Key Information Sets (KIS) are produced at programme level for all programmes that this module contributes to, which is a requirement set by HESA/HEFCE. KIS are comparable sets of standardised information about undergraduate courses allowing prospective students to compare and contrast between programmes they are interested in applying for.

Part 3: Assessment
Assessment Strategy	The assignment adopts a pre-approved case study review of an organisation. This will focus student's attention on issues such as organisational strategy and objectives, strategic choice, contemporary strategic issues, competitive environment, core competences and capabilities and strategic performance that will enable the development and reporting of recommendations. In line with the College's commitment to facilitating equal opportunities, a student may apply for alternative means of assessment if appropriate. Each application will be considered on an individual basis taking into account learning and assessment needs. For further information regarding this please refer to the VLE.
