Part 2: Description
In this module students will examine the different aspects involved in aiding a person who is experiencing a crisis related to mental health. The module will cover an introduction and critical analysis to what a crisis might entail, consider ways to manage risks, and explore how compassionate care can be enriched. This is alongside reviewing how to promote collaborative working between stakeholders to meet the needs of people experiencing a crisis.
Part 3: Assessment
Assessment will be one component: A 3000-word assignment in which the student critically discusses and reflects on the nature of a mental health related crisis alongside a crisis scenario encountered within student's area of clinical practice. Students will be supported to write their assignments with a lesson in how to write the essay, as well as receive formative feedback. In addition, students can contact the module lead for further guidance and signposting to UWE support services.
