Part 2: Description
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Students of the History programme will understand the basic concerns of this discipline, which deal with the ideas, motivations, and interactions between individuals, organisations and societies in the past.</li> <li>• They will share the common critical, conceptual and analytical skills developed by all graduates of the History programme.</li> <li>• They will be introduced to the development of the discipline and of the variety of approaches adopted by its practitioners.</li> <li>• They will be able to: engage in close reading and critical evaluation of primary sources of various kinds; feel confident in contributing to intellectual debates; analyse and evaluate the arguments of others; formulate and effectively communicate their own arguments in both oral and written modes; and to undertake independent research.</li> <li>• The students' degree work on this programme should encourage them to envisage themselves as contributing to the cultural life of the academic community and beyond.</li> </ul> Level 0 consists of four year-long 30 credit modules in which the main focus is on the acquisition both of appropriate academic skills and of an awareness of the relevance to their future pathway in English, English with Writing, English and History, English and English Language, History, English Language and Linguistics, Creative and Professional Writing, Media and Cultural Production, Film Studies, Film Studies and Literature, Liberal Arts, Journalism, Journalism and Public Relations, or Media and Journalism. Academic Skills in Arts and Humanities (UPCNA7-30-0) will act as a “spine” to the year, supporting the other three modules through a variety of assessment methods, including a reflective journal. Students will be encouraged to develop as reflective learners and to understand the importance of the UWE graduate attributes. The teaching methods are designed to engage students and develop their core skills and confidence.
Programme requirements for the purposes of the Higher Education Achievement Record (HEAR)
This programme encourages students to produce academic work of the highest calibre by achieving the stipulated learning outcomes for all of their modules. The programme brings together a developed knowledge of history with an application of this knowledge to industry-facing scenarios and real-world tasks. Teaching, learning and assessment across all modules focuses on the development of skills applicable to a variety of careers aimed at the Cultural Industries and beyond. Students are advised to engage in extra-curricular activities, such as joining the History Society. In History the Trevor Johnson Prize is awarded for the best performance in Single Honours History BA; the Neil Edmunds Prize for best performance in Joint Honours; and the Glyn Stone prize for the best work in Applied Historical Research.
Regulations
Approved to University Regulations and Procedures

Placement Year

Students on the sandwich route (SW) must undertake and pass a work placement:.

During this time students must complete the 30 credit level 3 module, Professional Development on Placement UPNNA5-30-3

This module assesses the student's personal development, from the experience of placement and their ability to identify issues relevant to their Placement's organisational context and to then frame, scale and position a critical work-based enquiry relevant to the specialism of the degree.

This provides a rich process in which student can make links between theory and practice, reassess themselves and confront the challenges of carrying out a role in a new organisation whilst knowing that they will have the opportunity to be supported if there is a problem and that they will be returning to the programme for a further period of reflection and learning after the placement is completed.

To be eligible for Placement students would normally be expected to have passed a minimum of 210 credits

Students choosing the Level 3 option module History in the Public Space will be expected to participate in a placement equivalent of 20 days work experience. This may operate as a block, or as one day per week depending upon the requirements of the placement organisation. Placement as a block enables students to carry out the work outside of the teaching timetable (e.g.during vacations) whilst a one day per week placement allows students to take other modules without interference. The exact timing of the placement will be decided before allocation to students so that they are fully aware of commitment requirements.

As there is no expectation that students will be paid for their work, placements will normally take place in the Bristol area. Placement organisations will be made aware that any additional travel should be covered at their own expense.
