- To equip students for direct employment in theatre, television or film costume departments.
- To develop the intellectual capacity commensurate with an undergraduate honours degree, within a conservatoire level vocational training framework.

Section 3: Learning outcomes of the programme

The award route provides opportunities for students to develop and demonstrate knowledge and understanding, qualities, skills and other attributes in the following areas: ...

A Knowledge and understanding

Learning outcomes

Teaching, Learning and Assessment Strategies

A Knowledge and understanding of:

On completion of this award, a successful student will have knowledge and understanding of:

1. The skills and professional competence to successfully supervise costumes for performance in theatre and recorded media;
2. The application of professional techniques to produce patterns and costumes for Theatre, Film, or Television;
3. Professional standards in the production of millinery and specialist skills for Theatre, Film, or Television;
4. How to obtain and successfully undertake employment in professional costume departments.

Teaching/learning methods and strategies:

Acquisition of 1 is through undertaking the role for actual public theatre or recorded media productions working with and supervised by professional staff or in training environment that reproduces professional practice.

Acquisition of 2 & 3 is through classes and practical construction projects at Levels 1 and 2, and specialist project work and placements at level 3.

Acquisition of 4 is through preparation for employment through work placement, specialist classes and interaction with employers; in addition at level 3 through the long industry placement

Assessment:

Testing the student's knowledge is through practical demonstration of supervisory skills in production situations, execution of costume designs to specific briefs and presentation of work at exhibition, and feedback from placements and potential employers;

B Intellectual Skills

B Intellectual Skills On completion of this award, a successful student will possess: <ol style="list-style-type: none">1. The ability to analyse and extract detailed information from dramatic texts relevant to the needs of theatre or recorded media productions.2. The ability to produce mathematical blocks from complex pattern instructions.3. The capacity to demonstrate, through project and production work, a good working knowledge of the chronological history of costume.4. The ability to conduct and present research and to apply this knowledge to the practical realisation of costumes for performance.5. The ability to anticipate and solve complex costume construction or production problems under pressure.6. The ability to think 'out of the box' and innovate solutions.	Teaching/learning methods and strategies Intellectual skills are developed through guided and supervised class activity, projects and production work, and the student's interaction with the designer and other key members of the creative/production team. The student must be capable of analysis of dramatic texts in order to inform the style and practical needs of a particular production. Problem solving skills are developed by working through the choices involved in interpreting costume designs to their practical realisation. Intellectual skills are developed through Level 1 to 3 progressively, with students dealing with increasingly complex design situations for which they take responsibility. Assessment: This will be done through analysis of the students working methods, the process of interpreting and realising costume designs and the application of their knowledge of period or contemporary costume to the selection of costumes for production. Assessment will focus on the development of the student's creative and organisational abilities.

- The programme will enable students to develop self-management skills and to learn to transfer skills gained to new and changing situations and contexts.
- In their second year students are working to professional standards and deadlines in theatre production, with that work presented to peers, potential employers and the paying public.
- The course prepares students to progress to employment or to develop their skills, knowledge and understanding through further training and study at BA Hons level.

Section 8 Reference points/benchmarks

- University teaching and learning policies.
- Employer interaction/feedback.
- QAA benchmarks relevant to this subject. Of only limited use in this intensely vocational area.

This specification provides a concise summary of the main features of the programme and the learning outcomes that a typical student might reasonably be expected to achieve and demonstrate if he/she takes full advantage of the learning opportunities that are provided. More detailed information on the learning outcomes, content and teaching, learning and assessment methods of individual modules can be found in module specifications. These are available on the University Intranet.

Programme monitoring and review may lead to changes to approved programmes. There may be a time lag between approval of such changes/modifications and their incorporation into an authorised programme specification. Enquiries about any recent changes to the programme made since this specification was authorised should be made to the relevant Faculty Administrator.
