Overview: This module supports students by allowing them to fulfil the appropriate credit requirements for completion of this level in their studies. This will be through exploring a self-identified area of interest related to the field of Education.

Students will only study this module following prior discussions and agreement with their relevant programme leader.

There is no taught content on this module, and it would be directed work from a tutor.

Features: Not applicable

Educational aims: This module will allow students to:

Develop skills to search for relevant academic and policy related sources from the field of Education.

Evaluate the strengths and weaknesses of a journal article.

Develop a coherently structured argument.

Outline syllabus: This module might include:

Identifying ideas and issues which merit further investigation in a specified area within a programme related to the field of Education.

Searching for relevant academic and policy related sources in the area of study related to the field of Education.

Developing an area of enquiry and specifying questions for investigation.

Developing a written argument in a specified area related to the field of Education.

Part 3: Teaching and learning methods

Teaching and learning methods: Scheduled learning includes seminars, tutorials and project supervision.

Independent learning includes hours engaged with essential reading, assignment preparation and completion etc.

Teaching and learning will be managed through a range of strategies including seminars and tutorials. Contact time will also be composed of virtual forms of communication using email discussion groups, virtual learning environments (VLEs) and other technology-aided means.

Module Learning outcomes: On successful completion of this module students will achieve the following learning outcomes.

MO1 Identify and utilise a range of published sources relevant to the investigation of a specified area of study.

MO2 Demonstrate the strengths and weaknesses in arguments presented within a specified area incorporating theoretical, practice based and policy based sources.

MO3 Follow a supported process of enquiry and study to pursue an identified goal.

Part 4: Assessment

Assessment strategy: What is/are the assessment task(s)?

A review of an article in an area of study negotiated with the tutor: either as a 2,500 word essay or a 10 minute presentation.

Why is this assessment being used?

In line with Universal Design for Learning principles, students are given the choice of either a written or oral assessment in order to reduce barriers for students with marginalised characteristics.

The assessment strategy for this module is designed to support students' developing knowledge and understanding of a specified area of study of relevance to the programme of study in relation to the field of Education. A percentage mark will be given to the piece of work.

How will students be supported to meet the assessment requirements?

Feedback on students' progress in their studies on this module will be provided during face to face meetings and via online means. They will have the opportunity for feedback on their developing ideas and also written feedback on drafts of their assessments prior to submission.
