Part 2: Description

Overview: The module introduces students to the most significant authors, texts, and issues of Ancient Greek Philosophy, from its origin to Aristotle, stressing the unitary character of its metaphysical, ethical, and political breakthroughs.

Features: Not applicable

Educational aims: The aims of this module are to:

Examine selected topics in the philosophies of the Pre-Socratics, Socrates, Plato, and Aristotle.

Introduce students to a form of philosophy for which epistemology, metaphysics, ethics, politics, and aesthetics are highly connected endeavours.

Introduce students to the conceptual vocabulary of Ancient Philosophy, which in turn comprises a large part of contemporary philosophical terminology.

Outline syllabus: The aim of this course is to introduce students to the foundational authors, texts, and ideas of early Greek philosophy and thus, to the foundational ideas of Western philosophy as a whole. It will comprises two parts corresponding to the two terms.

The first term will focus on the earliest philosophers up to and including Plato.

The second term will focus on the philosophy of Aristotle.

The course will lay foundations for the study of philosophy that can be built upon in subsequent study. Its historical introduction to philosophy will form a useful counterpoint to the problem-based introductions to philosophy available in other modules.

Part 3: Teaching and learning methods

Teaching and learning methods: The module will employ a combination of lectures, seminars, and workshops. Our pedagogy is interactive, discussion-based, and student-facing. Students are an active part of the learning process, and will be asked to contribute ideas, questions, and critical standpoints. The learning environment is designed to promote peer-to-peer support and exchange.

While teaching and learning will be predominantly classroom based, appropriate use will be made of online resources and learning environments.

Module Learning outcomes: On successful completion of this module students will achieve the following learning outcomes.

MO1 The ability to use a range of logical, analytical, and theoretical tools in the analysis of philosophical issues arising from the study of ancient philosophical texts.

MO2 Develop and demonstrate transferable skills in the presentation and analysis of arguments.

MO3 The ability to understand the key topics of ancient philosophy from the beginnings to Aristotle.

MO4 The ability to relate ancient texts to contemporary problems and concerns.

Hours to be allocated: 300

Contact hours:

Independent study/self-guided study = 228 hours

Face-to-face learning = 72 hours
