Reading Strategy

Students will be encouraged to read widely using a variety of bibliographic and full text databases, and Internet resources. Guidance to some key authors and journal titles available through the Library will be given on Blackboard. There are some excellent books published in this subject area. Students will be encouraged to buy at least one book. A list of recommended titles will be provided in the Module Handbook and updated annually.

Indicative Reading List

The following list is offered to provide validation panels/accrediting bodies with an indication of the type and level of information students may be expected to consult. As such, its currency may wane during the life span of the module specification. However, as indicated above, CURRENT advice on readings will be available via other more frequently updated mechanisms.

Part 3: Assessment

Assessment Strategy	The assessment strategy is designed to ensure students apply their understanding of childhood disorder and 'disordered childhood' in a variety of ways. They approach the material from a top-down perspective using theory (essay) and a bottom-up one reflecting of real life issues affecting children and a real-life case study (presentation and exam). In this way, they are given the opportunity to see the ways in which academic material can inform real-world issues and a chance to develop some expertise as informed commentators on a range of issues currently affecting children and childhood. <ol style="list-style-type: none"> a. a 'real life' case study in which they are asked to provide expert opinion (exam) on whether the child in question is suffering from a childhood disorder and/or disordered childhood b. a theoretically essay which discusses key trends and features of modern childhood in the UK and assesses the extent to which childhood per se is 'disordered' . This essay is 2,000 words c. a group presentation based on a current (newspaper) article on an issue affecting children. Students are asked to identify the issues raised in terms of their knowledge of and understanding of themes, literature and critical questions raised by the course. A collective mark is allocated for the group presentation Formative feedback is given in group and individual tutorials. Assessment criteria used are published in the module handbook and are consistent with the HASS departmental assessment criteria at level 3 Presentations are held in term 2 in class time. The exam paper is pre-seen. The exam takes place under controlled conditions
