Syllabus Outline	This module typically will cover: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Labour supply and demand, human capital, employment screening and signalling 2. Theoretical models of unemployment; efficiency wage theories, insider-outsider theory. 3. Impact of unemployment on future earnings 4. Discrimination – theory, evidence and measurement 5. Segregation and dual labour markets 6. Economic theories of migration and remittances; effects of migration on the economy, the family and the migrant country 7. Attitudes towards immigration and immigration policy
Contact Hours/Scheduled Hours	There are 3 hours of contact time with staff that a student can expect in a week, this will consist of a combination of lectures, seminars and 1 hour for time for presentations/consultation and/or data manipulation.
Teaching and Learning Methods	Lectures will sometimes be driven by theory, sometimes by current events but always connecting the theory to reality in order to provide students with tools to analyse economic problems and to understand the limitations of theory and modelling. This will result in a deeper learning experience. The remaining 4 hours will involve the use of seminars, tutorials, group presentations and practical classes. Within group seminars and tutorials we will continue with the use of watching online videos and discussing its contents in relation to a specific macroeconomic event. In addition staff will be available during the semester during their office hours (2 hours a week) for face to face meetings. Queries and extended discussions with staff can also be approached virtually through e-mail. Extensive use will be made of Blackboard for weekly guided independent study work; to support students' learning; to facilitate interactions between students e.g. for group project work and to provide feedback with quizzes and forums. Students will also be directed towards the University Library online Study Skills resources for the development of skills appropriate to the level and style of the module. In addition a number of e-learning resources will also be used: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The MySkills Study Skills website at http://www.uwe.ac.uk/library/resources/hub/ [Of particular interest will be the pages on 'Being a student at level 1' http://www.uwe.ac.uk/library/resources/bbs-study-skills/student/level1.htm • Skills4study (s4s) as part of the MySkills resource [Academic reading and note making; Critical thinking; Academic writing; Referencing and plagiarism] • iSkillzone http://iskillzone.uwe.ac.uk [workshops for information retrieval, referencing, evaluation skills and literature reviewing http://www1.uwe.ac.uk/library/help.aspx] • Learn Higher http://www.learnhigher.ac.uk/Students.html
Reading Strategy*	All students will be encouraged to make full use of the print and electronic resources available to them through membership of the University. These include a range of electronic journals and a wide variety of resources available through websites and information gateways. The University Library web pages provide access to subject relevant resources and services and to the library catalogue. Many of these resources can be accessed remotely. Students will be presented with opportunities within the curriculum to develop their information retrieval and evaluation skills in order to identify such resources effectively.

	Students will be directed and expected to undertake essential reading throughout the module. However, depending upon specific topics addressed over the course of the module, students will be expected to undertake additional reading for themselves. A list of indicative textbooks and relevant journals is provided below but students are expected to recognise that these may be starting points only and that they should extend their reading as widely as is necessary to demonstrate a comprehensive knowledge. Blackboard – This module is supported by Blackboard, where students will be able to find all necessary module documentation, including guidance on Further Reading within the module handbook/outline. Direct links to information resources will also be provided from within Blackboard UWE Libraries – Engagement with online resources available through the library will be a core requirement of this module. There is no essential text for this module; however, we will suggest useful foundational texts to which they could refer. Students will be provided with a wide variety of written, audio and video texts that will be taken from recommended text books, journal articles, national and international newspapers and websites. Journal articles will be available electronically, or in the library. Students will be guided throughout the module as to the appropriate texts. Module guides will also reflect the range of reading to be carried out. Students will be told texts to read from books and from academic papers within the module handbook. Online videos and audio recordings will be recommended too of economists and policy makers.
Indicative Reading List	The following list is offered to provide validation panels/accrediting bodies with an indication of the type and level of information students may be expected to consult. As such, its currency may wane during the life span of the module specification. CURRENT advice on additional reading will be available via the module guide or Blackboard pages. Recommended Readings from: Borjas, G. J. Within these websites there are video and audio recordings of respected economists and policy makers. Academic and Practitioner Journals Quarterly Journal of Economics Journal of Human Resources Journal of Labour Economics Applied Economics Labour Regional Studies Journal of Development Studies World Development

Part 3: Assessment

Assessment Strategy	This module deploys a mix of formative and summative assessment. Formative assessment takes various forms and will occur throughout the module; it may include peer feedback on informal activities. Summative assessment will take the form of a written essay and written examination. The first opportunity for summative assessment – a 2,000 word essay - will be based on applying labour theory to current events (e.g. youth unemployment). The 2 hour written examination will assess the entire module content.
