	Current national educational policy, curriculum and priority areas
	Curriculum, pedagogy and assessment.
Contact Hours/Scheduled Hours	Contact time for this module will take the form of lectures, seminars, workshops, presentations, directed study and online engagement.
Teaching and Learning Methods	Scheduled learning: This includes whole cohort lectures, seminars, module tutorials, structured school/college placement-based work, technology-enhanced learning through online engagement and e-mail contact. Independent learning: There is an expectation that trainees engage in additional independent study, including engaging with essential and further reading
Reading Strategy	All trainees will be encouraged to make full use of the print and electronic resources, available to them through membership of the University. These include a range of electronic journals and a wide variety of resources available through web sites and information gateways. The University Library's web pages provide access to subject relevant resources and services, and to the library catalogue. Many resources can be accessed remotely. Trainees will be presented with opportunities within the module to develop their information retrieval and evaluation skills in order to identify such resources effectively. All essential reading will be indicated clearly, along with the method for accessing it, e.g. trainees may be expected to purchase a set text, and will be referred to other texts held in the library and texts that are available electronically. Further guidance will be available in the module handbook and via the module information on UWE online. If further reading is expected this will be indicated clearly. If specific texts are listed in subject-specific documentation, a clear indication will be given regarding how to access them and, if appropriate, trainees will be given guidance on how to identify relevant sources for themselves, e.g. through use of bibliographical databases. Formal opportunities for trainees to develop their library and information skills will be provided within the induction period and by academic subject tutors. Additional support is available through the Library Services web pages including interactive tutorials on for example accessing electronic journal articles and referencing.

Part 3: Assessment Assessment This module offers the opportunity to identify, plan and action a small scale action enguiry that can be undertaken with a class/group of young people. Strategy The theme for the enquiry will focus on individual training needs and/or current national educational priorities and/or school improvement. The theme for the action enquiry to be selected from a menu of topics including national priority areas and linked to individual training needs and/or school improvement priorities. Evidence of background reading will be represented in an annotated bibliography. The Subject or Senior Mentor in the school and the UWE supervisor will provide feedback on the proposal as part of the talk through of the proposal. The intervention will be carried out in the school placement. All students must have completed a UWE Application for ethical review of research involving human participants form (adapted for the Department of Education and Childhood) and had this approved and signed off by their supervisor before beginning their research. If the supervisor has any concerns which cannot be resolved with the tutee then the ethical review will be passed to the Module Leader and then potentially to the Faculty Research Ethics Committee to consider. Any subsequent changes to the project need to appear as amendments to the Ethical Review form and resubmitted to the Supervisor for approval and re-signing. The completed Ethical Review form must be included in the assignment submission.
