Part 2: Learning and Teaching
Learning Outcomes	On successful completion of this module students will be able to: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Manage the transition into university level study (A). 2. Develop academic skills which underpin effective study in sport (A). 3. Understand key principles of enquiry relating to literature searching (A).

	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 4. Describe what is meant by research and explain its significance in the sports industry (A). 5. Describe a variety of tools and techniques used in sport research (A). 6. Consider ethical approaches pertinent to the sport research process (A). 7. Understand basic statistics and qualitative analysis and when to use such analysis in sports research (A). 8. Understand the various mediums and formats of presenting information (A)
Syllabus Outline	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Develop a rounded appreciation of the subject programme. • Academic study skills – avoiding plagiarism, finding and accessing learning resources, essay techniques and referencing in academic writing. • Types of research and their application and significance within sport. • The purpose and value of research in sport. • Careers in sport that involve research skills. • Research ethics and value. • Reviewing research papers.

Teaching and Learning Methods	Students will engage with the module leader to establish clear aims and objectives for this module which will be programme relevant. Participants will be allocated a tutor to guide and support them in their independent learning. The learning approaches will be negotiated between the student and the supporting tutor. Contact time will be divided through a combination of lectures, seminars and workshop sessions. It is expected that students will spend a minimum of 114 hours on independent learning as this is an essential component of modules at undergraduate level. Students will not be able to complete the module successfully without undertaking the required amount of independent learning. This independent learning will include a combination of lone study and individual, pair and group work. Scheduled learning includes lectures, seminars, tutorials, project supervision, demonstration, practical classes and workshops; fieldwork; external visits; work based learning; supervised time in studio/workshop. Independent learning includes hours engaged with essential reading, case study preparation, assignment preparation and completion etc. These sessions constitute an average time per level as indicated in the table below. Scheduled sessions may vary slightly depending on the module choices you make. Placement learning: may include a practice placement, other placement, year abroad.
Key Information Sets Information	Key Information Sets (KIS) are produced at programme level for all programmes that this module contributes to, which is a requirement set by HESA/HEFCE. KIS are comparable sets of standardised information about undergraduate courses allowing prospective students to compare and contrast between programmes they are interested in applying for.

Reading Strategy

Essential readings

Any essential reading will be indicated clearly, along with the method for accessing it, e.g. students may be required to purchase a set text, be given a print study pack or be referred to texts that are available electronically or in the Library. Module guides will also reflect the range of reading to be carried out.

Further readings

Further reading will be required to supplement the set text and other printed readings. Students are expected to identify all other reading relevant to their chosen topic for themselves. They will be required to read widely using the library search, a variety of bibliographic and full text databases, and internet resources. Many resources can be accessed remotely. The purpose of this further reading is to ensure students are familiar with current research, classic works and material specific to their interests from their academic literature.

Access and skills

Formal opportunities for students to develop their library and information skills are provided within the induction period and student skills sessions. Additional support is available through online resources. This includes interactive tutorials on finding books and journals, evaluation information and referencing. Sign up workshops are also offered.

Indicative Reading List

The following list is offered to provide validation panels/accrediting bodies with an indication of the type and level of information students may be expected to consult. As such, its currency may wane during the life span of the module specification. However, as indicated above, CURRENT advice on readings will be available via other more frequently updated mechanisms.

Part 3: Assessment
Assessment Strategy	The module is assessed using a poster defence. The production of a poster is the culmination of a small-scale research project that will allow students to demonstrate knowledge and understanding of academic study and research skills. The poster defence offers students an opportunity to articulate and justify their applied understanding of a particular concept through an oral defence. The group assessment promotes collaboration within research tasks, and provides the opportunity for cooperative learning at level 4. In line with the College's commitment to facilitating equal opportunities, a student may apply for alternative means of assessment if appropriate. Each application will be considered on an individual basis taking into account learning and assessment needs. For further information regarding this please refer to the VLE.

1. Individual oral poster defence (10 minutes)	100%
If a student is permitted a retake of the module under the University Regulations and Procedures, the assessment will be that indicated by the Module Description at the time that retake commences.
