Contact hours	Indicative delivery modes: Lectures, guided learning, seminars etc 33 Self directed study 3 Independent learning 114 TOTAL 150
Teaching and learning methods	A variety of learning strategies will be used including lectures and seminars and self directed study. Students will also be expected to engage in independent learning throughout the module. Scheduled learning Includes lectures, seminars, tutorials, project supervision, demonstration, practical classes and workshops; fieldwork; external visits; work based learning; supervised time in studio/workshop. Independent learning Includes hours engaged with essential reading, case study preparation, assignment preparation and completion etc. These sessions constitute an average time per level as indicated in the table below. Scheduled sessions may vary slightly depending on the module choices you make. Virtual learning environment (VLE) This specification is supported by a VLE where students will be able to find all necessary module information. Direct links to information sources will also be provided from within the VLE.
Key information sets information	Key information sets (KIS) are produced at programme level for all programmes that this module contributes to, which is a requirement set by HESA/HEFCE. KIS are comparable sets of standardised information about undergraduate courses allowing prospective students to compare and contrast between programmes they are interested in applying for.

Reading strategy	Core readings Any essential reading will be indicated clearly, along with the method for accessing it, e.g. students may be expected to purchase a set text or be referred to texts that are available electronically, or in the Library. Module guides will also reflect the range of reading to be carried out. Further readings Further reading is advisable for this module, and students will be encouraged to explore at least one of the titles held in the library on this topic. A current list of such titles will be given in the module guide and revised annually. Access and skills Formal opportunities for students to develop their library and information skills are provided within the induction period and student skills sessions. Additional support is available through online resources. This includes interactive tutorials on finding books and journals, evaluation information and referencing. Sign up workshops are also offered.
Indicative reading list	The following list is offered to provide validation panels/accrediting bodies with an indication of the type and level of information students may be expected to consult. As such, its currency may wane during the life span of the module specification. However, as indicated above, CURRENT advice on readings will be available via other more frequently updated mechanisms, including the module guide. • Appleby, M. C., Hughes, B. O., Mench, J. Part 3: Assessment

Assessment strategy	The examination has been chosen so as to allow the knowledge and intellectual skills gained throughout the module to be assessed in a controlled examination setting. The written assignment has been chosen to facilitate in depth utilisation of the information covered throughout the module, as well as via additional study, in evaluation and discussion of causes and solutions to animal welfare issues. Formative feedback can be gained from this module in the module delivery, on blackboard, in tutorials and in revision sessions. Summative feedback can be gained upon assignment and exam scripts. In line with the College's commitment to facilitating equal opportunities, a student may apply for alternative means of assessment if appropriate. Each application will be considered on an individual basis taking into account learning and assessment needs. For further information regarding this please refer to the VLE.
