Role of the FSA, Bank of England, UK Treasury, FRC and US SEC in banking regulation and in the identification, evaluation and management of risk.

Part 3: Teaching and learning methods

Teaching and learning methods: Formal contact between lecturers and students will be through lectures and workshops each week. The lectures will deliver material, and set work to prepare for the workshops and in the workshops the students will undertake practical work based on this preparation. Students will be encouraged to discuss concepts and present their ideas and views. They will be expected to act independently in planning and undertaking tasks, in reflecting on their own learning and in seeking and making use of feedback from tutors and each other.

Module Learning outcomes: On successful completion of this module students will achieve the following learning outcomes.

MO1 Understand the current debates about the appropriate regulatory framework for banking and the principles and issues which underpin the regulation of the industry

MO2 Evaluate and apply the principles of corporate governance and social responsibility in the context of a financial institution's obligations to its stakeholders and the environment

MO3 Critically review a range of ethical decision-taking models and apply these scenarios involving ethical dilemmas or conflicts of interest to make reasoned choices

MO4 Distinguish between a range of behavioural models and preferences and assess their potential impact on ethical and professional behaviour in a banking environment

MO5 Assess risks from scenario information and to identify the ways that they may be managed

MO6 Research a topic independently; drawing on academic and practitioner information sources

MO7 Present reasoned views and discuss and defend ideas effectively

Hours to be allocated: 150

Contact hours:

Independent study/self-guided study = 114 hours

Face-to-face learning = 36 hours

Total = 150
