Part 2: Description

Overview: Not applicable

Features: Not applicable

Educational aims: The syllabus for this module will focus on providing students with knowledge and understanding of the criminal law, together with the context in which the criminal law operates. The subject content is foundational and will provide students with an understanding of the inter-relationship of statute and case law in the development of the criminal law.

Outline syllabus: The precise content may vary from year to year (based on contemporary developments) but the following is an indicative list of areas that may be covered:

Introduction to criminal law, elements of the criminal justice system and why certain activities are criminalised.

The elements of a crime, the nature of actus reus, omissions and causation.

The notion of culpability, the importance of mens rea and the nature of different states of mind such as intention, recklessness and negligence.

The law relating to offences against the person, to include fatal and non-fatal offences. Covering murder, voluntary and involuntary manslaughter and specific partial defences such as diminished responsibility and loss of control.

General defences such as duress, necessity, mistake and self-defence.
Issues of capacity & incapacity such as intoxication, insanity and automatism.

Sexual offences and the role of consent.

Property offences such as theft, robbery and burglary.

Parties to a crime, secondary participation and inchoate offences.

In relation to the above topics the approach will be to examine the current law, consider recent developments, assess any proposals for reform and identify some of the theoretical underpinnings of the current legal approach.

Part 3: Teaching and learning methods

Teaching and learning methods: The teaching and learning methods used on this module will be by way of weekly lectures and workshops that average at 3 hours per week.

Lectures will introduce students to the various criminal law subject areas and the workshops will provide the students with opportunities to explore, discuss and examine some of those subject areas in greater depth. There is an expectation that students will independently undertake reading and preparation work for each of the workshops.

Within the module, semester 1 workshops focus on skills relating to understanding and answering problem questions, whereas semester 2 workshops focus on research skills and essay writing. This is in order to provide the students with help and guidance and a safe environment to discuss, practice and hone skills that they need to develop, in readiness for the assessments at the end of each semester.

In addition to above, lectures and workshops will also provide students with opportunities to:

Apply the knowledge that they have gained via lectures and wider reading to problem solving and making legal arguments.

Learn to interpret, evaluate and analyse primary and secondary sources of criminal law in order to support legal arguments.

Develop their legal reasoning skills in relation to the criminal law.

Discuss and debate relevant legal issues and their impact within the criminal law.

Understand the nature of offences and defences within the criminal law.

Develop written and oral communication skills.

Analyse and evaluate the social, political and moral context of the criminal law.

Develop the ability to research relevant and appropriate material to support legal arguments.

Develop an ability to work within groups.

Develop an ability to prepare work and carry out required reading.

Where possible, students will be supported in their learning by the use of electronic resources such as online MCQ tests, quizzes and lecture capture, in order to ensure engagement and understanding of the various subject areas.

Scheduled learning includes lectures and workshops. It is anticipated that each student will receive/attend approximately 68 hours of scheduled learning.

Independent learning includes hours engaged with essential reading, case study preparation, assignment preparation and completion etc. It is anticipated that in addition to scheduled learning, each student will also spend approximately 232 hours on independent learning.

Module Learning outcomes: On successful completion of this module students will achieve the following learning outcomes.

MO1 Demonstrate subject knowledge of major concepts, values and principles of the English criminal legal system and be able to apply that knowledge to a range of different contexts such as problem solving, essay writing, research and other assessed work
