Section 2: Educational aims of the programme

- To provide a general educational experience in which students might acquire knowledge, skills and those virtues associated with learning and reflection.
- To promote critical, creative and analytical thinking.
- To provide a general foundation for the world of work by equipping students with the broad range of skills, understanding and knowledge employed in a wide range of vocations.
- To impart a broad range of skills: discipline specific, cognitive and general transferable skills, which, together with the points above provide the student with a sound basis for further study.
- To acknowledge the wide diversity of students and their interests through a flexible programme, enabling the student to choose between a variety of modules in order to meet their particular educational needs and interests, and to foster their individual development.
- To encourage scholarship and to foster the virtues of objectivity, reflection and judgment.
- To foster critical study, collaborative and individual, independent learning. This aim includes the promotion of self-criticism and reflexive awareness.
- To provide a programme enriched by research undertaken by members of the sociology school.

Section 3: Learning outcomes of the programme

The award route provides opportunities for students to develop and demonstrate knowledge and understanding, qualities, skills and other attributes in the following areas:

A Knowledge and understanding

Learning outcomes

Teaching, Learning and Assessment Strategies

A Knowledge and understanding of:

1. the key concepts and theoretical approaches that have developed and are developing within sociology;
2. social context, of social diversity and inequality and their impact on the lives of individuals and groups;
3. the value of comparative analysis, in both historical and contemporary contexts;
4. the social nature of the relationship between individuals and groups;
5. social processes underpinning social change and social stability;
6. the nature and appropriate use of research strategies and methods in gaining sociological knowledge;
7. the relationship between sociological argument and evidence;
8. the distinctive character of sociology in relation to other forms of understanding.

Teaching/learning methods and strategies:

1-8 are achieved through the compulsory modules at stages 1-3. UPSNLA-30-1, UPSNMA-30-2 & UPSNPA-30-3 look at social theory in an applied context, combining a range of theories/ approaches over a wide range of social and historical contexts. These modules are organised around the theme of Theory, Application and Method. A wide range of option modules allows students to develop these theoretical approaches, to gain more specialised knowledge of particular contexts, and to experience a range of assessment methods. Knowledge of research methods and strategies are developed through levels 1-3. Students may opt to develop these further. All students undertake a project which contains a taught research methods element.

Assessment:

Modules are assessed through a range of methods including essays, seminar presentations, article and book reviews, long essays and projects.

B Intellectual Skills

B Intellectual Skills On successful completion of this award students will be able to demonstrate the following skills: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1. ability to appreciate the complexity of human behaviour, social situations and events and assessing the merits of competing explanations.</li> <li>2. ability to gather, retrieve and synthesise information;</li> <li>3. ability to review and evaluate evidence;</li> <li>4. ability to develop a reasoned argument and critically interpret evidence.</li> </ol>	Teaching/learning methods and strategies Skill 1 is achieved through compulsory modules through levels 1-3. Skills 2-4 are achieved largely through assessment methods and seminar work. Students are aware of assessment criteria through information in module handbooks, feedback on assessment and through detailed discussion and preparation in seminars. This process is supported by the faculty wide skills programme.
