Section 2: Programme Overview, Aims and Learning Outcomes

Part A: Programme Overview, Aims and Learning Outcomes

Overview: This award concentrates on developing classical themes in contemporary human geography held together by the concept of the 'geographical imagination'. This concept emphasises the interrelationships between processes occurring at different spatial scales (local, national, global) to produce place difference.

Educational Aims: The award has the following aims:

To enhance students' knowledge of our rapidly changing world in the context of understanding the interactions between environment and society.

To acquaint students from all walks of life with the basic traditions, modes of analysis and perspectives of human geographical enquiry.

To provide students with a comprehensive grounding in up-to-date themes and techniques in human geography.

To train students in a variety of core and specialist skills, including cartography, information and communication technologies, research design and management, writing and public speaking.

Part C: Higher Education Achievement Record (HEAR) Synopsis

This programme consciously combines classic themes of the discipline of human geography with the acquisition of professional and transferable skills. It explores contemporary issues and methods in human geographical enquiry as it develops graduates' ability to apply their enhanced geographical imagination to the work place. Graduates are attractive to employers due to their global scope of vision, environmental awareness and breadth of skills.

Part D: External Reference Points and Benchmarks

The structure and content of this award have been informed throughout by a number of key reference points:

QAA Benchmark statement for Geography (December 2014):

This document provided guidance for articulating the nature of the programme and specifying learning outcomes. It was used to establish the academic standards of the award learning outcomes with specific reference to knowledge and understanding, discipline specific skills, intellectual skills and key skills. In addition, the teaching/learning assessment strategies adopted on the award are consistent with those defined within the benchmarking statement.

Geography in the National Curriculum:

The rediscovery and redevelopment of students' 'geographical imaginations' is a key imperative for the award. We define the geographical imagination as the ability to evaluate the interrelations between processes occurring at different spatial scales (local, national and global) and to evaluate critically the complex processes of place-making. Changes in the National Curriculum mean that the important task of developing this geographical imagination in our students continues to play an important role in our own curriculum development.

Staff research interests and expertise:

The design of the programme, in particular, the range of options available has been shaped by the strengths of active research staff.

Part E: Regulations

Approved to University Regulations and Procedures.
