Part 2: Description

The programme aims to support the UWE Bristol widening participation strategy by enabling students to undertake a foundation year before progressing to year one of the programme.

The BA (Hons) Criminology and Law degree at UWE is designed to enable students who are interested in both Criminology and Law to shape their own futures. There is an emphasis on enabling students to maximise their employment prospects and to provide them with a range of options which will enable them to focus on those areas of Criminology, law and socio-legal studies which interest them most and which best fit with their interests and career aspirations.

The programme aims to provide students with a comprehensive introduction to the related disciplines of Criminology and Law. At Levels 2 and 3, the programme is designed to help students develop an in-depth and detailed understanding of both Criminology and law, in equal measure, to an advanced level, highlighting how these two disciplines interact. In particular the programme aims to:

- Promote a legal and scientific understanding of the multitude of different explanations of criminality across a number of different offences and what this means in regard to victimology, crime control & crime prevention; the punishment and /or rehabilitation of offenders; public/societal attitudes to crime; and the Criminal justice system
- Develop a holistic understanding of offending, victims, crime, criminality and criminal justice.
- Promote critical evaluation of offending, victims, crime, criminality and criminal justice.
- Develop an understanding of the relationships between theory and its application to the full range of offending, victims, crime, criminality and criminal justice.
- Develop an understanding of the role of empirical evidence in the creation and constraint of theory and the role of theory in the collection, analysis and interpretation of data.
- Enable the acquisition and knowledge of a range of legal and criminological research skills and methods, quantitative and qualitative, culminating in an ability to conduct research independently.
- Develop the abilities and insight necessary to appreciate and critically evaluate theory, research findings, applications and interventions.
- Provide related study options in the field of Criminology and Law.
- To acknowledge and accommodate the wide diversity of student needs and interests through the provision of a flexible programme which enables students to choose between varieties of specialist modules.
- To encourage scholarship and to foster the virtues of objectivity, reflection, judgment, critical study, and independent learning (individual and collaborative).
- Develop an understanding of legal values and principles, ethical and professional judgment and Foundations for Law
- Develop an understanding of a range of major legal concepts which will support the study of crime control, crime prevention and public/ societal attitude to crime in a criminological context
- Develop specialist knowledge and skills to meet the demands of a modern workplace both in the public and private sector

Level 0 consists of four year-long 30 credit modules in which the main focus is on the acquisition both of appropriate academic skills and of an awareness of the relevance to their future professional lives of the disciplines of law, economics, accounting and business and management. Becoming A Professional (UJUUL9-30-0) will act as a “spine” to the year, supporting the other three modules through a reflective portfolio and three integrative project weeks. Students will be encouraged to develop as reflective learners and to understand the importance of the UWE graduate attributes. The teaching methods are designed to engage students and much of the scheduled class time will be spent in technology enhanced active learning (TEAL) rooms. The remainder of this section relates to the remaining years of the programme.

Level One provides BA Criminology and Law degree students with a common first year. In addition to subject specific knowledge gained in the four 30 credit modules, students also develop their skills in case analysis (particularly in Foundations for Law), statutory interpretation (particularly in Foundations for Law), research methodology and techniques (particularly in Foundations for Law and criminal justice), research (particularly in Criminal Law, Criminal Justice and Foundations for Law), oral presentation skills (Criminal Law, Criminal Justice and Criminological Theory), team working (particularly in Criminal Law and Criminal Justice). Peer Assisted Learning and the Foundations for

Part 2: Description

Law module assist students in the transition into higher education. Both the Criminal Justice and the Foundations for Law modules encourage students to audit and reflect on their skills development and helps students to identify their career options and to start to identify the knowledge, skills, experience and aptitudes required by employers in their preferred future career(s). At level 1 all students combining Criminology and Law follow a common programme. This allows students combining the two disciplines to choose during level 1 whether to major in Law (the LLB (Hons) Law with Criminology) to major in Criminology (the BA (Hons) Criminology with Law) or to continue to combine the two subjects equally the BA (Hons) Criminology and Law.

Level 2 builds on the skills developed at level 1. Level 2 subjects provide students with the opportunity to improve their research skills, project management, personal development planning, career planning and reflection. Choosing to study criminology and law together enables students to develop a specialism within their degree programme. Students will also be advised that if they want to pursue a BA (Hons) in Criminology and Law, it will be possible for them after graduation to take a Graduate Diploma in Law as an alternative route into the legal profession. Students are advised about level 2 option choices in the level 1 Foundations for Law module and have the opportunity to discuss this with their Personal Academic Tutor on a one-to-one level. Before making their level 2 choices students are provided with information about the modules on offer, the subject areas covered, skills developed, their assessment, method of delivery and method of assessment. Students also have the option to meet with the module leaders of the modules from which they are choosing their level 2 options.

Level 3 builds on the skills developed at level 1 and Level 2 through the continued use of the Personal Academic Tutor system and the teaching of study skills in the compulsory module.

Assessment is an integral part of the teaching and learning process. Students are exposed to a variety of assessment methods that test their ability to integrate theory and practice and which promote the growth of their life-long learning skills. Assessment feedback helps students to ascertain their learning strengths and weaknesses and continuing development needs.

Assessments are designed to facilitate a progression through differing levels of complexity at each level of study:

- At level 0, an understanding of the academic skills needed for success in higher education
- At level 1, a sound knowledge of the basic concepts of a subject.
- At level 2, a sound understanding of the principles of the field of study and the ability to apply these principles more widely.
- At level 3, an understanding of a complex body of knowledge, some of it at the current boundaries of the academic discipline.

Programme requirements for the purposes of the Higher Education Achievement Record (HEAR)

Criminology is a contemporary, multi-faceted and applied subject area. Criminology focuses on definitions and understandings of crime as well as criminal justice from a range of perspectives (victims, offenders, the state and institutions). Criminology, especially the criminology taught at UWE, focuses on theoretical learning as well as the application of this knowledge to real world situations. Throughout their degree criminology students will experience a range of learning (online/offline), teaching (lectures, seminars, workshops and TEL) and assessment (essays, exams, case studies, presentations) techniques. Students also acquire knowledge of some of the Law's core areas and develop key skills and attributes for their future working lives. There are opportunities for a year on placement or study abroad, and participation in a significant range of extra-curricula activities including mootings, pro-bono work and Law student societies. Students are challenged in their ability to communicate, analyse and problem-solve, developing their intellectual capacity focusing on practical, enterprising and future-facing application within the legal arena and elsewhere.

Consequentially, a Law and Criminology degree opens graduates up to a range of graduate level positions, including, in the criminal justice system and related charitable sectors.

The Criminology benchmarks have informed the curricular content of the programme from the start. The spine of the programme is therefore in conformity with the benchmarks. These were consulted during the planning process and at each stage of the development of the programme. They are embedded in the educational aims and learning outcomes (cognitive, subject, professional and transferable) of the compulsory elements.

Please note: Criminology awards differ (mainly in terms of tone and options) depending on where they are located in their institution (i.e., Sociology, Law, Psychology, etc) the current programme adheres to the core provision of similar criminology degrees and the subject benchmarks. Therefore meaning that it is appropriate and comparable.
