Section 2: Programme Overview, Aims and Learning Outcomes

Part A: Programme Overview, Aims and Learning Outcomes

Overview: The BA(Hons) Accounting and Finance programme seeks to provide a foundation for lifelong learning with a strong emphasis on the development of appropriate knowledge, skills and professional values essential to the exercise of an accounting and finance specialism, whether in industry or public practice. It has been designed to provide a thorough grounding in financial reporting, management accounting and corporate finance.

Educational Aims: The programme aims to develop technically competent, enterprising and commercially aware individuals who think and communicate effectively and who have the basis for conducting inquiry, carrying out problem solving and undertaking critical analysis in a constantly changing business context.

Programme Learning Outcomes:

On successful completion of this programme graduates will achieve the following learning outcomes.

Knowledge and Understanding

- A1. Business organisations, how they are organised, financed and managed, and the dynamic environment in which they operate, including the major economic, legal, political, social, international, and cultural forces and their influences.
- A2. The current and alternative regulatory frameworks which govern financial reporting.
- A3. The techniques and analytical tools used in the production of financial information for planning, decision making and control within organisations.
- A4. The theoretical framework for understanding the relationship between business organisations and their financial markets.
- A5. The different ethical frameworks within which the implications of financial decisions can be evaluated.
- A6. The key features of accounting information systems; their purpose, operation, product and relationships.
- A7. The basic concepts underlying the application of IT in support of the collection, processing and production of information.
- A8. The application of quantitative methods and statistics to business problems.

Intellectual Skills

- B1. Apply appropriate knowledge, analytical techniques and concepts to problems and issues arising from both familiar (routine) and unfamiliar (novel) situations.
- B2. Locate, extract and analyse data and information from a variety of different sources.
- B3. Synthesise and evaluate data and information from multiple sources.
- B4. Think critically, examine problems and issues from a number of perspectives, challenge viewpoints, ideas and concepts, and make well-reasoned judgments.

Subject/Professional Practice Skills

- C1. Prepare and present financial statements, taking account of external requirements, for sole traders, partnerships and limited companies.
- C2. Identify, select and use appropriate techniques in order to produce costing statements for a range of products and services.

- C3. Prepare and present budgetary control information appropriate to the cultural, structural and managerial context of an organisation.
- C4. Identify, select and use suitable techniques for short term and long term investment decision making purposes, taking into account the dynamic relationship between an organisation and its environment.
- C5. Choose and apply appropriate techniques for estimating the value of business organisations and their underlying assets.
- C6. Identify, select and use appropriate techniques for evaluating the performance of business organisations.
- C7. Design financial reporting systems relevant to organisational contexts.
- C8. Identify and take account of the organisational, motivational and ethical issues underpinning the production, presentation, interpretation and evaluation of financial information.

Transferable Skills and other attributes

- D1. Present, discuss and defend ideas, concepts and views effectively through written and spoken communication
- D2. Extract, process and present numerical information for a given purpose.
- D3. Use IT competently (general IT skills including use of standard word processing packages, internet, data bases, spreadsheets and specialist accounting software).
- D4. Work co-operatively in groups, share decision making and negotiate with others.
- D5. Act independently in planning and undertaking tasks, manage and reflect on own learning and performance and seek and make use of feedback.

Strategy 2020

University policies

Staff research projects:

Where ever possible staff are encouraged to utilize their research – and that of colleagues – to inform their teaching, both in terms of content and pedagogic approach.

Any relevant PSRB requirements.

Any occupational standards.

QAA UK Quality Code for HE:

Framework for higher education qualifications (FHEQ)

Subject benchmark statements:

Accounting

Key sections and extracts from the benchmark statements are summarised / reproduced below. This framework will inform the development of new awards, award collaborations and serviced out modules.

The nature and extent of the subject of accounting:

Accountancy is concerned with the provision and analysis of information for a variety of decision-making, accountability, managerial, regulatory, and resource allocation purposes. It is practiced, in part, within a professional service context.

Accounting as a degree subject requires students to study how the design, operation and validation of accounting systems affects, and is affected by, individuals, organisations, markets and society. This study is informed by perspectives from the social sciences.

The benchmarks statements define the relevant knowledge and understanding fairly fully whilst leaving room for local interpretation.

Graduates are expected to have the following subject-specific knowledge and skills:

An understanding of some of the contexts in which accounting can be seen as operating.

Knowledge and understanding of the main current technical language and practices of accounting.

Knowledge and understanding of some of the alternative technical language and practices of accounting.

Skills in recording and summarising transactions and other economic events; preparation of financial statements; analysis of the operations of business; financial analysis and projections.

Knowledge and understanding of contemporary theories and empirical evidence concerning accounting in at least one of its contexts, and the ability to critically evaluate such theories and evidence.

On completion of a degree covered by this statement with a substantial finance content, a student should have a knowledge and understanding of theories and empirical evidence concerning financial management, risk and the operation of capital markets.

Graduates are expected to be able to demonstrate a range of cognitive, intellectual and transferable skills. These include:

A capacity for the critical evaluation of arguments and evidence.

An ability to analyse and draw reasoned conclusions concerning structured and, to a more limited extent, unstructured problems from a given set of data and from data which must be acquired by the student.

Ability to locate, extract and analyse data from multiple sources, including the acknowledgement and referencing of sources.

Capacities for independent and self-managed learning.

Numeracy skills, including the ability to manipulate financial and other numerical data and to appreciate statistical concepts at an appropriate level.

Skills in the use of communications and information technology in acquiring, analysing and communicating information.

Communication skills including the ability to present quantitative and qualitative information, together with analysis, argument and commentary, in a form appropriate to an intended audience.

Normally, ability to work in groups, and other inter-personal skills, including oral as well as written presentation skills.

QAA National Qualifications Framework: a brief guide to academic qualifications:

The higher education qualifications awarded by universities and colleges in England,

Wales and Northern Ireland are at five levels. In ascending order, these are the Certificate, Intermediate, Honours, Masters and Doctoral levels.

Certificate level:

The holder of a Certificate of Higher Education will have a sound knowledge of the basic concepts of a subject, and will have learned how to take different approaches to solving problems. He or she will be able to communicate accurately, and will have the qualities needed for employment requiring the exercise of some personal responsibility.

The Certificate may be a first step towards obtaining higher level qualifications.

Intermediate level:

Holders of qualifications at this level will have developed a sound understanding of the principles in their field of study, and will have learned to apply those principles more widely. Through this, they will have learned to evaluate the appropriateness of different approaches to solving problems. Their studies may well have had a vocational orientation, enabling them to perform effectively in their chosen field. They will have the qualities necessary for employment in situations requiring the exercise of personal responsibility and decision-making.

Subject:

Qualification titles that reflect the subject focus of programmes of study in two disciplines (e.g. a joint Honours award) should consider nomenclatures based on:

'A and B', where there is an approximately equal balance between two components;

A with B' for a minor/minor combination where the minor subject accounts for at least a quarter of the programme.

Qualification titles should not normally reflect more than three subject components.

Where there are more than three significant components, the title 'Combined Studies' would be appropriate.

Employability Strategy

Faculty of Business and Law LTA Strategy

Staff research projects:

Where ever possible staff are encouraged to utilize their research – and that of colleagues – to inform their teaching, both in terms of content and pedagogic approach.

Employer interaction and feedback:

Employers and alumni are regularly consulted to ensure the currency and relevance of the programme.
