Part 2: Description

Overall Aim

The overall aim is to enable students to develop skills, knowledge and understanding in digital journalism across all multi-media platforms, alongside an understanding of the local and global political, economic and media contexts in which journalists and public relations professionals work. In addition the programme aims to prepare students for work in the public relations field in consultancy firms or corporations. Strategic thinking and critical analyses is emphasised throughout the programme along with on-going exposure and interaction with professionals. Its utility to students will stem from a fully immersed engagement with digital production technologies combined with writing and project management skills ensuring graduates of this programme are employable across a range of communication and publicity industries in the public and private sector.

Specific Educational Aims

To ground students in the concepts and theories of Journalism, contemporaneously, historically and with a critical understanding of standard frameworks established in law, industry regulation, professional guidelines and ethical concerns in different national and international contexts.

To ground students in the concepts and theories of Public Relations, leading to strategic thinking and critical analyses of practices in the field.

To prepare students for future careers which require a high level of analytical and communication skills.

To develop students' understanding of the political economy and organisation of journalistic and PR practice within the broader context of the media industries.

To equip students with practical journalistic and public relations production skills including knowledge of a range professional and journalistic writing across platforms.

To create practitioners who are proficient in new multi-platform technologies employed in the field now and in the future through extensive hands-on training with state-of-the-art equipment and software.

To prepare practitioners who are versatile in the acquiring of information, effective problem solvers and able to work with different groups of people in a global environment.

Level 0 consists of four year-long 30 credit modules in which the main focus is on the acquisition both of appropriate academic skills and of an awareness of the relevance to their future pathway in English Literature, English Literature with Writing, English and History, English Language and Literature, History, English Language and Linguistics, Creative and Professional Writing, Media and Cultural Production, Media Culture and Communication, Film Studies, Film Studies and Literature, Liberal Arts, Broadcast Journalism, Journalism and Public Relations, or Media and Journalism. Academic Skills in Arts and Humanities (UPCNA7-30-0) will act as a "spine" to the year, supporting the other three modules through a variety of assessment methods. Students will be encouraged to develop as reflective learners and to understand the importance of the UWE graduate attributes. The teaching methods are designed to engage students and develop their core skills and confidence.

Programme requirements for the purposes of the Higher Education Achievement Record (HEAR)

Students on the programme develop industry-standard communication skills suitable for a wide range of careers. They produce material of the highest quality for a variety of audiences in print and on radio, TV and online. They are also challenged to achieve academic skills in the critical analysis of texts and research methodologies. They gain an understanding of different ideas about the role of journalism and public relations in society, its history and potential future pathways. The modules ensure a breadth of knowledge to support students in their future career aspirations.
