Part 2: Educational Aims of the Programme

On successful completion of this programme students will be able to:

- apply acting, improvisation and directing methodologies to the devising process, selected play texts, scenarios and film scripts;
- analyse and interrogate different methods of acting, directing, physical theatre, and screen acting, which can be expressed in practice;
- problem-solve using imaginative strategies for acting/directing challenges inherent to different theatrical genres and film production;
- engage in close reading and critical evaluation of texts of various kinds and feel confident in contributing to cultural debates;
- analyse and evaluate the arguments of others, and effectively communicate their own arguments in both oral and written modes after undertaking independent research;
- work effectively in groups, managing their workload successfully to communicate their ideas in the form of presentations and performance practice;
- envisage themselves as contributing to the cultural and artistic life of the academic community and beyond.

Programme requirements for the purposes of the Higher Education Achievement Record (HEAR)

Drama and Acting students develop a broad range of both professional and transferable skills. Seminars and workshops enable them to work closely together, sharing knowledge and practical experience, as well as supporting and mentoring each other.

There is an overall emphasis on personal development to ensure that Drama and Acting graduates emerge from their studies as employable, well-rounded individuals ready to embark on a wide variety of careers. So alongside practical Acting, Directing, Creative Writing and Technical skills, students also develop in terms of problem solving, presenting, analysing, articulating, and organising. Perhaps most importantly, they learn to manage work on their own and in groups.

Part 3: Learning Outcomes of the Programme

The award route provides opportunities for students to develop and demonstrate knowledge and understanding, qualities, skills and other attributes in the following areas:

Part 4: Student Learning and Student Support

Teaching and learning strategies to enable learning outcomes to be achieved and demonstrated

At UWE, Bristol there is a policy for a minimum average requirement of 12 hours/week contact time over the course of the full undergraduate programme. This contact time encompasses a range of face:face activities as described below. In addition a range of other learning activities will be embedded within the programme which, together with the contact time, will enable learning outcomes to be achieved and demonstrated.

On the BA (Hons) Drama and Acting programme teaching is a mix of scheduled and independent learning.

Scheduled learning includes workshops, seminars, tutorials, project supervision, demonstration, practical classes and lectures; fieldwork; external visits; work-based learning; supervised time in studio/workshop. Scheduled sessions may vary slightly depending on the module choices made.

Independent learning includes hours engaged with essential reading, case study preparation, assignment preparation and completion, rehearsal, etc. Scheduled sessions may vary slightly depending on the module choices made.

Students with disabilities or special educational needs are supported through the University's Disability and Wellbeing Services, with access to learning materials and support tailored to the individual needs of the student.

All students are invited to an annual Induction event to enable familiarisation with the facilities, programme and staff. Careers/employability events tailored to Drama and Acting students' needs (e.g., audition workshops for postgraduate entry to Drama School) feature in each academic year. The UWE Drama Society and the Centre for the Performing Arts enable students to participate in extra-curricular Drama activities with students from other programmes across the University. In addition UWE Drama holds an annual New Performance Festival at a professional theatre in Bristol, which gives the opportunity for Drama and Acting students interested in playwriting, direction, producing, acting and technical aspects of theatre to work with staff on a production in their area of interest. Performance Lab is another staff-organised activity that sits outside the curriculum: it offers students a variety of workshops, talks and screenings to attend throughout the academic year.

Description of the teaching resources provided for students

Teaching Resources provided for Drama and Acting students include Tech and Non-Tech Specialist Drama spaces, General Purpose Teaching Rooms, Computer Labs, Learning Zones and the Library. Virtual Resources include Campus Wi-Fi, Blackboard and online subscriptions (such as for specialist academic journals).

Description of any Distinctive Features

- One week induction programme for orientation, study skills and local theatre resources.
- Module Handbooks for each module studied.
- Study skills, health and safety, risk assessment and other technical skills sessions embedded in modules.
- Dedicated Drama technicians to support performance projects and in-house productions.
- Extensive library and other learning resources and facilities for drama.

Part 4: Student Learning and Student Support

- Dedicated staff office hours for students to contact all staff.
- All students have access to the internet, email, Blackboard.
- All students have access to student advisers and trained counsellors for both pastoral and academic support in addition to Academic Personal Tutors.
- A wide range of teaching and learning strategies and an equally varied range of assessment modes across the award.
- Strong emphasis on the skills of the performer/performance practitioner, independent learner, and researcher.
- The teaching of a broad range of actor training skills for a variety of dramatic forms (plays, devised pieces, site specific work, live and performance art, and screen).

Part 5: Assessment

A: Approved to University Regulations and Procedures

Assessment Strategy

Assessment strategy to enable the learning outcomes to be achieved and demonstrated:

The Assessment Strategy for Drama and Acting includes diverse methods of assessment to reflect the various teaching and learning methods and outcomes across a range of modules. Teaching includes workshops, seminars, and lectures; and learning is assessed largely through coursework: performances, presentations, ongoing critical engagement with practice, workbooks, portfolios and essays. Feedback is continuous and directly tied to the learning outcomes of each module via assessment specific criteria. Students receive individual verbal and written feedback on all modules and are encouraged to participate in peer assisted learning. Assessment guidelines and criteria are made available at the start of the academic year in Module Handbooks and on Blackboard.

Assessment Map

The programme encompasses a range of assessment methods including exams, portfolios, performances, presentations, reports, and critical engagement with practice. These are detailed in the following assessment map:

GRADUATION

Part 7: Entry Requirements

The University's Standard Entry Requirements apply with the following additions/exceptions:

Tariff points as appropriate for the year of entry - up to date requirements for Drama and Acting are available through the courses database.

Part 8: Reference Points and Benchmarks

- Curriculum content, development and progression, and teaching and learning approaches within this programme are in line with QAA subject benchmark recommendations. These include the breadth and depth of knowledge being offered, the coherence of the programme's structure, and the use of a wide range of teaching and learning models and assessment practices.
- University teaching and learning policies: See above.
- Staff research projects: All members of the Drama and Acting team are engaged in practice and/or research. They have a wide range of published and/or performance practice that informs the academic content of this programme.

What methods have been used in the development of this programme to evaluate and improve the quality and standards of learning?

This included consideration of stakeholder feedback from current students, graduates, potential employers (Tobacco Factory Theatre) and postgraduate teaching institutions (such as Bristol Old Vic Theatre School).

This specification provides a concise summary of the main features of the programme and the learning outcomes that a typical student might reasonably be expected to achieve and demonstrate if he/she takes full advantage of the learning opportunities that are provided. More detailed information on the learning outcomes, content and teaching, learning and assessment methods of individual modules can be found in module specifications, available on the University's website.
