Section 2: Programme Overview, Aims and Learning Outcomes

Part A: Programme Overview, Aims and Learning Outcomes

Overview: The broad aims of this programme are:

to provide an opportunity to develop a creative practice within a chosen field of study;

to provide an experience of higher education in art, media and design that offers students choice and independence in determining their own abilities and ambitions within a subject discipline;

to equip students with the intellectual, practical, critical and creative skills necessary for them to locate themselves and their practice within professional, social, historical and cultural contexts;

to give students the confidence to develop informed independent judgements and critical and intellectual rigour;

to ensure that the development of key/transferable skills is an integrated part of the curriculum;

to equip students with the necessary understanding of research techniques and appropriate methodologies;

to sustain an environment in which individual students may realise their full potential.

to use varied assessment methods in demonstrating achievement to both academic and industry stakeholders.

to form a coherent programme of learning outcomes and assessments designed to offer students maximum opportunity to demonstrate the skills, knowledge and experience.

to support incremental improvement in student's individual creative practice and development as practitioner-researchers.

to work on the principle of 'learning through making' in relevant and related subject areas.

Educational Aims: The programme aims to enable students to:

Explore the breadth and depth of contemporary photographic practice;

Understand the potential applications in the realization of creative practice;

Develop knowledge, understanding and skill through an exploration of a range of still, moving image and other creative practices in order to work in a professional environment or to undertake further study;

Progress sustainable personal practice through the application of a range of creative, critical, technical and transferable skills;

Demonstrate critical reflection, evaluation and analysis on the development of personal practice – developing a personal methodology that recognizes research, development, reflection and realization as the key components;

Locate their work in a professional, critical, historical and social context;

Progress from reactive to pro-active learning methods to become flexible, resourceful and autonomous learners able to manage increasing complexity.

Programme Learning Outcomes:

On successful completion of this programme graduates will achieve the following learning outcomes.

Knowledge and Understanding

- A1. How to articulate and synthesise understanding, personal attributes and acquired skills effectively in the context of creative practice, employment, further study, research and life-long learning
- A2. How to apply, consolidate and extend ability and knowledge within a wide range of professional, and critical contexts, both within and beyond the field of art and design
- A3. Concepts and over-arching concerns of sustainable development, in general and within photography in particular, including global citizenship, environmental stewardship, social justice, ethics and well-being, a future facing-outlook on consequences of actions and ensuring sustainable futures

Intellectual Skills

- B1. Generate and articulate ideas and arguments as solutions or responses to set briefs and self-initiated activity
- B2. Employ rigorous thinking processes in the course of observation, investigation, reflection and production to underpin sustainable creative practice
- B3. Understand the role of the audience, user/client and context in determining the creative methodology and outcomes of a photographic project
- B4. Show insight into the implications for photography embodied in current and emerging media practices and technologies
- B5. Critically evaluate visual language and the construction of meaning
- B6. Demonstrate an awareness of the significance of the work of other practitioners both within photographic practice and from other fields
- B7. Analyse information and experience and thereby develop reasoned arguments in relation to photographic practices
- B8. Formulate reasoned responses to critical judgements given by others
- B9. Evaluate the cultural value of photography and lens media production in promoting change for good and social justice, through ethical practices and reflective outputs

Subject/Professional Practice Skills

- C1. Develop ideas through to material outcomes giving rise to a coherent body of work
- C2. Select, test and make appropriate use of photographic and related materials and processes
- C3. Critically evaluate this process of interrogation through informed reflection
- C4. Creatively employ photographic materials and methods that test preconceptions (both personal and cultural) about the medium
- C5. Project manage from proposal/intention to dissemination applying recognised processes of interrogation and reflection in photographic study
- C6. Show entrepreneurial and professional proficiency that supports own or group practice in relation to 'audience' (in its widest as well as its subject - specific and client sense)
- C7. Demonstrate awareness of any ethical and legal implications that arise from the production of photographic works
- C8. Develop a personal methodology that relates to an individual graduate's expectations (whether these are in research/further study or professional practice)

Transferable Skills and other attributes

- D1. Demonstrate personal management skills such as time management, self-evaluation, setting goals and working independently
- D2. Anticipate, initiate, plan and progress projects, while accommodating changing practices
- D3. Interact effectively with others through collaboration and negotiation
- D4. Respond productively to the evaluative judgements of others
- D5. Analyse and organise information and resources
- D6. Articulate reasoned arguments through a process of critical reflection
- D7. Formulate and communicate ideas and information comprehensibly; visually, orally and in writing
- D8. Identify key issues and problems in the resolution and realisation of projects

Part C: Higher Education Achievement Record (HEAR) Synopsis

This course enables students to develop a creative photographic practice from a broad-based programme of activity, through to a specific and identifiable visual style. The structure is designed to offer a pattern of learning that establishes fundamental skills and principles at Level 1, before students look to direct their practices in open project briefs at Levels 2 and 3. Students are encouraged to consider the importance of creative process and how their work might be situated in the creative industries. Additionally, work experience and professional practice underpin the learning outcomes and assessment criteria throughout the course.
